

GIRL PRISONERS IN DEN.

Lucia Ragena Says There Are Many in a Park Street House.

She Was Taken There Herself by Alberto Deleden.

Alberto Deleden, alias Carlo Alberto, was taken on trial in the New York Police Court, Williamsburg, this morning, on a charge of abduction, but, owing to the absence of important witnesses, the trial of the case was not finished.

Lucia Ragena, a fifteen-year-old Italian girl, disappeared from her home on Crosby street, New York, June 15 last. On Sept. 13 she was found in a house on Park street, near Division Avenue, Williamsburg, where she was passing at the time as the wife of the prisoner.

To the police she stated that on June 15 she was accosted by Deleden, who promised to find her work and took her to a house on Park street, New York, the exact number of which she did not remember.

Here he kept her locked in a room for a couple of weeks and took her traveling over the State. He introduced her everywhere as his wife.

On coming back she was taken to the house in Brooklyn, where she was afterwards found.

The girl told the police that in the house to which she was taken on Park street there were several other young girls held there against their wills.

BELLE OF THE WARD A PRISONER.

She and Her Mother Held for Assaulting Rose Killeen.

Mrs. James Carroll and Tessa, her pretty seventeen-year-old daughter, who live at 178 North Tenth street, Williamsburg, were prisoners in the Lee Avenue Police Court this morning.

They were accused by Rose Killeen, who lives at the same place, with having almost made a butchery of her person.

The parties have been friends and fell out because of the respective merits of their male friends. The mother was the wife of the fourteen-year-old, Mrs. Killeen made the remark that she had "too many strings to her bow."

Tessa considered this not exactly an insult, and made an assault on her mother, who was assisted by her mother, who poured hot and cold water on Mrs. Killeen, while her daughter belabored her with her fists.

They were held for examination.

BURGLARY NIPPED IN THE BUD.

Record of the Close-Mouthed Burglar Being Investigated.

The police of the Gates avenue station, in Brooklyn, are investigating the record of a burglar, who says he is a baker, twenty-four years old, but refuses to tell where he lives.

Roundman Theodor and Petrolman McLaughlin saw him climb a fence in the rear of a house on Hancock street, between Lewis and Stuyvesant avenues, early this morning. Minor H. Hecker, of 500 Tuxedo street, advised the police that he had seen him on the fence, that he was stolen from his house a short time before.

Crash on the New Trolley Road. A car on the Coney Island and Brooklyn Electric Road struck a brewery wagon last night at the corner of Livingston and Smith streets. The wagon was driven by a man, who did not get out of the horse or driver was injured. The rest of the car was smashed.

Two Night-Blooming Blooms. Three night-blooming cereus plants will multiply their blossoms tomorrow evening in the windows of J. Austin Shaw, the florist, at 1021 Broadway. The windows will be lighted by electricity, and the public is invited to call to see them between 7 and 10 o'clock, when the flowers will appear to the best advantage.

Opening of the Bushwick Club's New Club-House.

Letters from Cleveland and Hill, Speeches by Sheehan and Hoody.

Members of the Bushwick Democratic club were congratulated on the side this morning on the highly successful opening of their new home, at the corner of Bushwick Avenue and Hart street, Brooklyn, last evening.

The building was illuminated from cellar to roof and was beautifully decorated with plants and flowers.

President Adolph H. Goetting presided at the opening ceremony. After congratulating the club on the possession of such a magnificent home, President Goetting read a telegram from ex-President Cleveland and Senator Hill.

Mr. Cleveland wrote:

"I know something of your organization and of the good work which it is doing in the Democratic cause. No one can overestimate the efficiency which has always marked the endeavor, and I desire to congratulate the club upon its possession of a new and beautiful home."

Senator Hill wrote:

"I regret that a previous engagement will prevent me from being present at the opening of your new club-house. I am, however, very glad to hear of the success of your organization, and I am sure that it will be a most successful one."

He Creates a Scene in the Police Court This Morning.

As Justice Haggerty seated himself on the bench in the Lee Avenue Police Court, Williamsburg, this morning, a wild-eyed man forced his way to the bar and excitedly exclaimed:

"I am called Arnold Butke, and am janitor of the flat house at 105 Bedford avenue. I was arrested by a small of my name Schwartz."

"Four weeks ago, in the middle of a warm night, I was awakened by a smell of gas and almost choked to death. I jumped to the window and regulated my breath."

"Then I found that the people next door were sending noxious vapors into my room in order to kill me. I had a gas on my face, but, last night, I was worse than ever."

Court officials told him he was affected by the odors from Newtown Creek. This did not satisfy him, and he said he would have protection even if he had to apply to the German Consul.

The man considered a little insane, but his friends say he is sane and sane by the nasty vapors from Newtown Creek.

THE APPOINTMENT STANDS.

Republicans Defeated in Their Appeal to the General Term.

The news of the decision of the General Term of the Supreme Court, at Poughkeepsie, in favor of the Supervisors of Kings County in the new apportionment of Assembly districts in Brooklyn, which was printed in the Sporting Edition of yesterday's Evening World, was confirmed by the reception of the full text of the decision.

United States District Attorney J. P. Johnson and other Republicans set up the claim that the supervisors had a legal right to the new apportionment, and that the decision of the court was illegal.

Justice Bartlett denied the application for a writ of habeas corpus, and the case was dismissed.
